

Breakthroughs that change patients' lives

Women need to raise their voices – and be heard

Sally R. K. Fisk
Assistant General Counsel

September 19, 2019

“It took me quite a long time to develop a voice, and now that I have it, I am not going to be silent.”

- Madeleine Albright (first female United States Secretary of State in U.S. history)

Breakthroughs that
change patients' lives

A photograph of Albert Bourla, CEO of Pfizer, speaking at a panel discussion. He is wearing a dark suit and glasses, and is gesturing with his hands while speaking. To his left, another woman is seated, listening. The background features a large screen with the Pfizer logo and the text "2019 LEADERSHIP SUMMIT WOMEN IN THE LAW".

“ I AM PASSIONATE ABOUT DIVERSITY AND INCLUSION
BECAUSE IT IS THE RIGHT THING TO DO.
PERIOD. ”

ALBERT BOURLA, CEO, PFIZER

2019 PFIZER
LEADERSHIP SUMMIT
WOMEN IN THE LAW
SHAPING THE FUTURE

#PFIZERWOMENINLAW

“Achieving gender equality requires the engagement of women and men... It is everyone’s responsibility.”

- Ban Ki-moon (eighth Secretary-General by the United Nations General Assembly)

Breakthroughs that
change patients' lives

“Having more women in company boards, in senior management, supervisory positions and workers in the formal sector is not only the right thing to do, but the smart thing to do. It’s good for the bottom line.”

- Michelle Bachelet (United Nations High Commissioner for Human Rights; former President of Chile, two terms)

Breakthroughs that
change patients' lives

Breakthroughs that change patients' lives